These guidelines are intended to help Collaborative Research Centres (CRCs) and CRC/Transregios to plan and prepare for on-site reviews. They are organised by factual context in the following sections:

- 1. Scheduling and timeline up to the review
- 2. Agenda and organisation of the review
- 3. Accommodation and catering for guests

This overview cannot replace regular dialogue with the DFG Head Office; rather, it is meant to facilitate and complement it. Support for Collaborative Research Centres is provided by the programme officers in the DFG Collaborative Research Centres division and the Excellence Strategy and Research Impulses division in conjunction with the Scientific Affairs Department.

Proposal submission to the Collaborative Research Centres Programme must be preceded by the submission of a concept paper and a consultation phase. The consultation phase provides the basis for the first selection step. Further information can be found in DFG forms 60.003 and 60.17.

www.dfg.de/formulare/60_003

www.dfg.de/formulare/60_17

In preparation for submitting a proposal, please refer to DFG form 60.011.

www.dfg.de/formulare/60_011

No contact should be made with the reviewers or the rapporteurs regarding the substance of the proposal, either before or after the review and the decision by the Grants Committee.

1. Scheduling and timeline up to the review

Determining and setting dates: General Information

The date of the review is set by the DFG Head Office in consultation with the relevant DFG committee members and the Collaborative Research Centre. Please inform the university administration(s) as soon as possible and continuously regarding the proposal preparations.

The most time-consuming tasks are the drafting of the scientific details of the proposal and the compilation of the general information required for the proposal. It is recommended to allow several months for these tasks. The timetable should also leave enough time for the internal evaluation of the projects that will be included in the proposal. Thorough internal self-monitoring has proven to be a critical success factor for the establishment and continuation of Collaborative Research Centres.

Timeline leading up to the review

Approx. 9 – 12 months before the review	Existing Collaborative Research Centres: Schedule the review date with the responsible programme officer at the DFG Head Office (after having identified favourable time windows). Collaborative Research Centres applying to be established: As soon as possible after receiving the recommendation to submit a proposal, contact the Head Office to schedule the review date.
At least 6 months before the review	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Submit preliminary proposal (see DFG form 60.011) • Reserve approx. 15 hotel rooms for members of the review panel, rapporteurs and DFG Head Office staff Note: As the actual number of participants can change shortly before the review, it is necessary to make bookings which can be cancelled on short notice. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Reserve meeting rooms

Approx. 8 weeks before the review	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Submit proposal and research profiles to the DFG Head Office (see DFG form 60.011)• Discuss presentation procedure with the responsible programme officer at the DFG Head Office
Approx. 6 weeks before the review	The DFG sends final invitations to the review panel, the university administration(s) and the relevant state ministries. The Collaborative Research Centre will receive copies of all invitations.
Approx. 2 weeks before the review	The Collaborative Research Centre sends hotel, meeting-venue and agenda details to the guests and informs them when they will be picked up from the hotel and escorted to the meeting venue.

2. Agenda and organisation of the review

The two-day review of a Collaborative Research Centre or CRC/Transregio takes place in one location. Please provide wireless Internet access for the duration of the review. In the relevant meeting room(s), please also make sure that the technical arrangements necessary for having individual review participants join the meeting by video have been made. If required, the responsible programme officer at the DFG Head Office will contact you.

Note: In exceptional cases, the mode of the review session may need to be changed on short notice. In particular, the entire review may need to be held in a video conference format.

Special procedure in case of negative recommendation by the review panel

If the review panel decides not to recommend the establishment and funding, or the continued funding, of the Collaborative Research Centre at the time of the review, the spokesperson will be informed immediately. The further course of the review will depend on the individual case. The university administration(s), members of the Collaborative Research Centre and state representatives will be informed by the DFG Head Office staff regarding the reasons for the negative recommendation.

3. Accommodation and catering for guests

Hotel

The hotel should have a sufficient number of single rooms to accommodate all guests and offer a good quality standard. Before making the final hotel reservations, please contact the DFG Head Office (SFB-Begutachtung@dfg.de) to ensure that the current upper price limit for an overnight stay with breakfast is not exceeded. As a general rule, please make a reservation for two overnight stays, from the day prior to the review (day of arrival) until the day 2 of the review. The hotel should be easily accessible from the meeting venue. Collaborative Research Centres should seek a reasonable discount when making reservations.

Note: As the actual number of participants can change shortly before the review, it is necessary to make bookings which can be cancelled on short notice.

Please arrange for the hotel to submit to the DFG the total invoice for the accommodation costs including breakfast (excluding extras such as telephone calls, minibar, etc.) for the members of the review panel, rapporteurs and DFG Head Office staff (but not for any other persons). Members of the Collaborative Research Centre may not be accommodated in the same hotel as the review panel.

Catering

The Collaborative Research Centre is requested to organise the following catering during the review:

- light lunch at the beginning of the poster session on day 1
- light lunch on day 2 (possibly lunch bags)
- Please remember to include vegetarian and vegan dishes, as well as pastries, fruit and sufficient beverages in the meeting rooms.

In the interest of participants with food allergies or intolerances, we ask that a list of ingredients and food additives be displayed. Please do not provide alcoholic beverages at any time during the review.

Costs arising from proposal submission and from the preparation and carrying out of the review process (e.g. for catering and room rental) cannot be covered from project funding awarded by the DFG.

We also ask you to organise dinner on the evening of the first day of the review at a restaurant close to the hotel in consultation with the responsible programme officer at the DFG Head Office. The DFG will bear the costs of this dinner.

Arrival and departure

The Collaborative Research Centre is requested to organise rides or escorts on both days from the hotel to the meeting venue in the morning, and if necessary from the meeting venue to the hotel in the evening. For departure, it is helpful to assist guests with transportation to the train station or airport.
